

SPIDER BANK

---

Is the ideal system for an intelligent control of river bank deformation.

The river banks, when subjected to intense floods, can suddenly give way, producing catastrophic consequences. The deformation is a gradual process: it can be intercepted in time. Spider Bank is a system that monitors the state of the river banks using patented fiber optic technology. It allows to understand if there is a potential danger of collapse during floods.